Valuing Diversity

SUMMARY

In this module, you will explore how values may differ and how uncovering shared values can help you bridge differences. You will work with fundamental approaches to stimulate open, honest discussions. You will apply a set of proven principles to foster mutual trust and build a solid basis for pursuing shared goals.

CONTEXT

Diversity in the workplace is common today. Being able to routinely tap into the inherent benefits of diversity is far less common. Despite growing globalization and years of mandated protections and guidelines, not all organizations have been successful in creating and sustaining a culture of inclusion and respect. Such a successful business culture provides both a return on investment and a competitive advantage.

At the completion of this module, participants will be able to:

- Discover the role values play in diversity
- Identify methods to build rapport and trust
- Develop the ability to open lines of communication
